PETTIS. BASSETT & CO

Work of a Hotel Thief.

Night before last, while tien. George A. Sheridan was quietly elesping in his room at the New Denison, a sneak-thief entered his apartment and stole his gold watch. The entrance must have been made over the transom, as General Sheridan is confident that the door to his room was locked. The same gentleman visited the room of Obed Wheeler, of New York, and took $70 from his pants pocket. Mr. Wheeler had been in conversation with ex-Governor Foster, who called on him at his room during the evening. When the Governor left Mr. Wheeler forgot to lock his door. The work was evidently that of a professional hotel thief. The case has been given to the police by the proprietors of

THE CONSUMERS GAS TRUST

Full Statement of the Trustees Concerning the Work Accomplished.

Amount of Money Collected on Stock and Expenditures Made in Creating the Plant -An Increase of Capital Ordered.

The trustees of the Consumers' Gas Trust submit the following concerning the work and financial condition of the company:

To the Stockholders of the Consumers' Gas Trust Company, and the Public: It is due to the stockholders and the public that an official statement should be made, showing the progress of the work which the Consumers' Gas Trust Company has undertaken to per-When we were selected as trustees to act for the 4,700 stockholders who pledged their support to the enterprise, we were aware that the objects of the company could not be carried out unless the management of its affairs was placed in good hands, and its business was so conducted as to command the approval of the stockholders and the public. In selecting the board of directors, it was our desire, as far as possible, to give a representacity; and it is due to the directors to state that the work committed to their charge has been conducted with the same energy, sagacity and prudence which has enabled them to achieve success in the various pursuits in which they are engaged. We are also glad to state that from the beginning of the work in November ast to the present time there has been perfect accord between the board of directors and the board of trustees; and we are informed that every act of the directory has been the result of the unanimous approval of its members. In the beginning the work was so pressing that it was necessary for the board of directors to held frequent meetings, and the records of the proceedings show that each of these meetings has been attended by all the directors who were in the city, except such as were detained by sickness. The public is familiar with the difficulties and doubts that surrounded the enterprise in its inception. When the capital stock was subscribed it was not known that a supply of gas could be obtained within a reasonable distance of the city. The amount of money required for profor purchasing and laying pipe could not be es-timated even approximately. But we felt sure that an enterprise which depended for a properous termination upon the public spirit of our citizens, who had come forward so generously in their subscriptions to the capital stock, would succeed, and all that was needed to attain success was to satisfy the supporters of the enter-prise that the money supplied by them was eco-nomically and judiciously used for the further-ance of the end proposed—that end being the procuring for all of our citizens of a supply of fuel at cost at the earliest practicable moment. We are now able to state that in the hands of the board of directors the enterprise has been conducted with a prudence, economy and success that has exceeded our most sanguine expectations. The promptness with which the sub-scribers have paid the stock subscriptions has enabled the board of directors to proceed with the work without any delay for lack of funds. It was not anticipated by us nor the public that It was not anticipated by us nor the public that the objects of the company could be fully realized by the use of the capital stock alone, and we have always felt assured that when it became apparent that the means at the command of the company would not be sufficient to complete the enterprise, and the stockholders and public were satisfied that the money expended had been wisely and economically used, we could appeal to the public once more for such assistance as would be necessary to make the enterprise a speedy and absolute success.

The directors of the company, through their

The directors of the company, through their committee on finance and auditing, have made to us the following report:

OFFICE OF THE CONSUMERS' GAS TRUST CO.

To the Trustees: Gentlemen-In compliance with your request, we beg to submit the following report, based upon con-trac's and estimates. It is as nearly correct as can be made at this time.

It includes the cost of the wells, field work, line pipe to the city, high and low pressure, city systems, from Twelfth street north, to Morris street south, Peru and Pine streets east, to Mississippi and Blake streets west. We confidently expect to do more this season, but this will depend largely upon the condition of the weather and the force that can be obtained to forward the work.

Our estimate of the annual income to the company in the territory mentioned is $300,000 to $400,000. From the report it will be seen that about $240,000 will be necessary to complete this season's work. Respectfully submitted, J. P. FRENZEL.

Twenty-two miles of highpressure mains have been laid and completed from the city to the gas fields, where the company has twenty gas wells, yielding an estimated quantity of 130,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, and 121 leases of gas territory have been made.

By this statement it will be seen that the en-tire high-pressure system, including the wells, the main lines to the city, and high pressure in the city, have been bought and laid with the exception of a small amount of unfinished work which is now in progress in the southern part of the city. The eighty-five miles of low-pressure pipe needed to fill in the territory bounded by Twelfth street on the north and Morris on the south, and Peru and Pine streets on the east and Mississippi and Blake streets on the west, and the service pipes and connections necessary to reach every consumer within those limits, have all been purchased, excepting about seventeen miles of low pressure pipe, and we are informed that the contract for what remains to be purchased will soon be consummated.

The fact that nearly $400,000 worth of pipe and material have been sold to the company on five years' credit evinces the confidence that manufacturers of pipe have in the ultimate success of this enterprise; and we may state here that these manufacturers, who have been so generous in extending this credit, have done so after a careful examination of the gas field and an investigation of the plans of the board of directors for carrying on the work. They have also made inquiry as to the public feeling in regard to the enterprise, and have been assured that the people who inaugurated this work would stand by it and make it successful. It is due to the directors to state that they have given their time and labors to this work without charge, and the result shows that they have done their work with the same prudence and energy that they have displayed in the management of their own personal business interests. Owing to the state of the market and the credit of the company, they have been enabled to purchase pipe and other materials at rates far below the lowest estimates that have Considering the magnitude of the work, the trustees became satisfied at the annual meeting that an increase of the capital stock should be authorized, and authority was given for its increase from the present amount of $500,000 to $1,000,000. We have authorized the directors to open subscriptions at once for, and to issue, $250,000 of this increased stock, which amount will be abundantly sufficient to complete all the work that can be done this season; that is, to bring gas to the property line of every fuel con-

pressure lines which have been laid and are now going down. We have no doubt about the accomplishment of the work. The people have shown an admirable spirit in inaugurating the enterprise, and we renture to say that no city in the country can furnish an instance where a work so great and mportant, sustained simply by the generosity and public spirit of its citizens, has attained to

He Uses a Razor on His Throat, but What Moved Him to the Deed No One Knows.

David Emden, a Hebrew, forty-two years of age, committed suicide at the Circle House yesterday morning. He was a cousin of Michael Emden, of No. 105 South Illinois street, and had been a resident of the city for nearly a year and a half. He had trouble with his wife, who lives in New York. He is reputed to be worth at least $60,000, and had an insurance policy of $30,000 on his life at the time of his death. He leaves two children-a boy of ten, who is in this city, and a girl of eighteen, who is now on her way from New York city. She is expected this morning, and is as yet ignorant of her father's self-killing. It was telegram from her to her father, notifying him of her purpose to visit him, that led to the discovery of the deed. About 10 o'clock in the morning Adolph Kahn received the telegram, and was taking it to Emden, who has been a regular boarder at the Circle House. Emden's key was in its usual place in the office, but his door was found open. He occupied a double room, the sleeping and sitting rooms separated by but a thin partition. Upon entering the bedroom Emden was seen lying on the bed, scantily dressed, and covered with blood. His neck was slashed from ear to ear, a bloody razor, closed, being found on the bed. Coroner Wagner was called, and by his orders the remains were removed to Kregelo's, where they were embalmed in the afternoon. An inquest will be held this Emden was known as one of the most con-genial men around the hotel, and of remarkable willingness to take a joke. He seldom became angry, but was subject to spells of melancholy. He was a frequent player of poker, but was rarely known to indulge in drink. Of his married life but little is known. He has not lived with his wife for nearly two years, and circumstances seem to point to an unhappy career prior to that time. He left two letters, one to his daughter, which is in possession of the coroner, and one dated July 3, to his cousin, Michael Emden, which ran as follows: Do not be surprised when you are informed of my last deed. I am tired of living in suspense. All I ask of you is to cend my remains East. Telegraph to S. Sulzberger, 17 John street, New York. You will find some of my wearing apparel at No. 994 Madison avenue, also my dog, which you can leave there until you hear from Belle; write her if the wishes the dog sent East. Whatever you may hear of my affairs keep to yourself. Your money, along with that of the others I owe, will be sent to you, so you can pay them. Make the shipment of my body very private. The remains will be sent East for private

CULLINGS FROM THE COURTS.

Fined for Threatening to Shoot Boys Who Stole Fruit. Louis Martin, living on Bellefontaine street, was before 'Squire Smock, yesterday, charged with drawing concealed weapons on some boys Tuesday night. Mr. Martin has quite a fruit orchard, and he testified that he had been troubled so frequently with boys stealing his fruit that when they came he did pursue them with the drawn revolver, but did not shoot. He was fined $1 and costs. Tried for Assault. The trial of Wallace Tubbs, indicted for making a criminal assault on a ten-year-old girl, attracted considerable attention in the Criminal Court yesterday. Prior to his arrest Tubbs was a church-goer, and an officer in one of the secret orders of the city. The trial was by jury, and the evidence of his guilt was practically con-clusive. The defendant himself admitted that the charge was true in fact, and but very little evidence in his behalf was submitted. Judge Irvin reserved his instructions to the jury until this morning. Mr. Merithew's Flag Incident. John Von Speckelson, the man whom R. A Merithew, of No. 106 Ruckle street, charged with having torn down a flag which the complainant hung out from his office window on Massachusetts avenue, was fined $1 and costs by 'Squire Smock yesterday, for profanity. After the fiag had been pulled down several times Mr. Merithew accused Mr. Von Spreckelson of removing it, and the latter abused him. Mr. Merithew says he knows the other persons implicated and will have them arrested to-day. Declared Insane. John Brandt, a stranger found at the Union Depot, early yesterday morning, was declared insane last evening by a commission composed of Drs. Hodges and Taylor, and Justices Smock and Feibleman. Brandt is a middle-aged men, and letters in his possession indicate that his home is in Brazil.

Saloon-Keeper's Trial. The saloon-keepers arrested for violating the liquor law, Wednesday, were arraigned before the Mayor yesterday morning. Jacob Roller, Charles Cummings, and Mathew Irie were each fined $10 and costs, and Wesley Hensley for-feited his bond for $25.

Probate Business. In the Probate Court, yesterday, Fred A Meyer qualified as guardian of Henry Poehler. with a bond for $9,000, and Theresa Schrader was appointed as administratrix of the estate of Elizabeth Schrader.

A Factor in Insurance. Natural gas, in the opinion of a leading underwriter of the city, will reduce the rates of insurance. Some of the insurance men have been led to believe that its introduction here would increase the risk on all property, but he does not think so. A great number of fires in dwellings are the result of fire popping out in the rooms from stoves and fire-places. Cases of this kind will be entirely eliminated by the introthe result. The only case where cas is like y to increase the risk, at least the only one that experience has shown to be of much consequence, is in heating chimneys and cracking them, no soot being present to protect them. On the whole, however, he thinks an important saving may be made to policy-holders here by the use

Deputy Sheriff Henry Langenberg has returned from the northern penitentiary, where he took A. M. Alexander, who, he says, broke down completely when he reached the prison. Alexander expressed the wish that Jesse Johnson had shot him instead of Mrs. Alexander. The convict's attorneys propose to ask the Su-preme Court for a new trial, but they haven't much hopes of success.

Broke Two of His Ribe. Lewis Smith, a colored laborer residing on Christian avenue, between Central and Park avenues, fell, yesterday, from the first story of the new building of Mr. Wilson, No. 816 North Alabama street. Two of his ribs were broken, and he was otherwise injured. He was just starting to the second story with a hod of bricks on his shoulder, and fell to the cellar below, striking on the scantling as he went down. Dr. E. Muhl was called and reported no serious danger. The wounded man was at once removed to his home.

The New Union Depot. The new Union Depot is nearing completion rapidly, and if there are no delays the contractors hope to have it ready for occupancy in four or five weeks. The iron-work of the sheds will all be in position by the middle of next week and workmen are now engaged in raising and straightening the tracks. The depot proper has practically been completed; the stone pavements around it are being put down, Jackson place is being improved, and the new streets are being graded and paved.

Why Mr. Watjen Supports Harrison. To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: H. J. Watjen, a druggist of this city, was a soldier under General Harrison. He enlisted in Indianapolis Aug. 6, 1862, in Company A. commanded by Captain Harrison, of the Seventieth Indiana. Mr. Watjen was promoted from private to assistant surgeon before the close of the war. What makes him remember General Harrison with a gratefulness that cannot be expressed in words was a disinterested act of kindness he rendered Mr. Watjen during a severe attack of sickness. Just below Gallatin. Tenn., at Drake's creek, while enarding a bridge Mr. Watjen was taken seriously ill with typhoid pneumonia. Unknown at the time to Mr. Watjen, his commander, General Harrison passed through the Union lines and secured a place in a farm-house near by for the sufferer He was then taken there and cared for through his sickness, and restored to health. He says that to-day he owes his life to this thoughtfulness and kindness of General Harrison. Mr. Watjen regarded him as a strict disciplinarian, but very kind to his men.
